

March 11, 2013

Press Release

Military Veteran Writes Book to Enlighten Christians

Spencer, Ind. – What is the future of Christianity in this ever-changing world?

Colonel Scott S. Haraburda, PhD, U.S. Army retired, in his newly released publication, “Christian Controversies: Seeking the Truth” challenges us to think outside of our comfort zone to question how and why Christians have been discouraged to explore controversial information surrounding the Word of God.

Haraburda shares several incredible true stories in addition to poignant experiences from his life, including many from his nearly 30 years of military service, as he logically discusses controversial subjects such as a Perfect Bible, sex, lying, killing, ethics, leadership, Bible-thumping judgment, and women’s rights.

Do you want to be a better Christian? Is it a sin to question and explore what you have been led to believe by Christian leaders? Should religion be handed down from one generation to the next without question? And how can we trust our Christian leaders to guide us to the Light? This book is intended to help you gain the insight you need to identify and protect yourself from those who proclaim to be Christian but who might misinterpret the Bible and use the Word for self-gain, or to hurt you and others.

“Christian Controversies: Seeking the Truth” is well-documented and written in easy-to-understand language to engage you and arm you with the knowledge you need to discuss Scripture in an educated and meaningful way, and to develop a real-world perspective of Christianity. This book is a must-read for all who profess to be Christian!

The book is available via Amazon.com, Barnes & Noble, and other major bookstores.

Meaningful Publications
PO Box 343, 30 S Washington St (ATTN: Marie Haraburda)
Spencer, Indiana 47460
marie@haraburda.us / www.haraburda.us
(219) 916-2487